

1. Relative clauses give extra information about _____ or _____. They are helpful because they can help you avoid very short sentences.
2. WHO and THAT refer to _____. Which one is more common?
3. WHICH and THAT refer to _____. Which one is more common?
4. Object or Subject relative clause?

Relative pronoun+verb=

Relative pronoun + (noun or pronoun) =

5. Object or subject relative clause?

The apple which is on the table

The apple that Jen put on the table

6. Same or different meaning? I like the bike that my father gave me. I like the bike which my father gave me. I like the bike my father gave me.
7. Subject or object relative clauses? You can leave out “who” “which” “that”
(Bonus: What is the English grammar term for this?!)
8. Correct or incorrect? Why?

I have a really good friend works at Burger King.

The police arrested a man my sister worked with.

Do you know the girl who's wearing the red shirt?

My best friend has a ring who her Grandfather gave to her.